DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fristoe et al. (United States Patent 7,178,161) in view of Wiser et al. (United States Patent 6,385,596), herein referenced as Fristoe and Wiser, respectively.

Regarding claim 1, Fristoe discloses “selecting a purchasing system interface for use with a media stream” [Col. 3 lines 29-42, Col. 11 lines 7-24]; “packaging the media stream with a self loading and self executing media player and with configuration information for presenting the purchasing system interface with the media stream...” [Col. 5 line 63-Col. 6 line3, Col. 7 lines 27-31]. In addition, Merriam-Webster’s dictionary defines “package” as being a ready-made computer program or a collection of related software, one of ordinary skill would recognize that a media stream and a media player are package of related software, which therefore meets the limitation.

Fristoe further discloses “streaming the media stream to a recipient, wherein the media player self-loads and self-executes on the recipient’s computing device and configures itself for execution on the recipients computing device using the configuration information, and wherein the media player self-loads when all the media player is received on the recipients computing device and while the media stream is still being received on the recipients computing device" [Col. 7 lines 17-40].

Fristoe fails to disclose "monitoring the usage of the media stream and purchasing system interface".

Wiser discloses "monitoring the usage of the media stream and purchasing system interface" [Col. 11 lines 46-57]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Fristoe by specifically providing the monitoring of the usage of the media stream and purchasing system interface, as taught by Wiser, for the purpose of royalty payments and other fees to artists [Col. 11 lines 53-57].

Regarding claim 2, Fristoe discloses "playing a portion of the media stream on a computing device of the recipient by using the media player, wherein media content included within the media stream is simultaneously presented on a display with the purchasing system interface and the purchasing system interface can be independently interacted with via the display" [Fig. 8A-8C, Col. 9 lines 21-26].

Regarding claim 3, Fristoe discloses "receiving purchasing selections from the recipient accessing a number of options from the purchasing system interface while viewing portions of the media content [Fig. 8A-8C] and using the media player for tracking any purchase that occurs for the media content" [Col. 8 lines 56-64].

Regarding claim 4, Fristoe fails to disclose "purchasing selections further includes notifying or recording the purchase for purposes of paying a commission or establishing a budget".

Wiser discloses “purchasing selections further includes notifying or recording the purchase for purposes of paying a commission or establishing a budget” [Col. 11 lines 49-61]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Fristoe by specifically providing purchasing selections further includes notifying or recording the purchase for purposes of paying a commission or establishing a budget, as taught by Wiser, for the purpose of royalty payments and other fees to artists [Col. 11 lines 53-57].

Regarding claim 5, Fristoe discloses "presenting the media content within a first frame of a browser page; and presenting the purchasing system interface within a second frame of the browser page" [Fig. 8A-8C, Col. 9 lines 21-26].

Regarding claim 6, Fristoe fails to disclose “receiving usage statistics from the media player identifying playing and purchasing information associated with the recipient playing media content included within the media stream and interacting with the purchasing system interface”.

Wiser discloses “receiving usage statistics from the media player identifying playing and purchasing information associated with the recipient playing media content included within the media stream and interacting with the purchasing system interface” [Col. 11 lines 46-57]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Fristoe by specifically providing the receiving of usage statistics from the media player identifying playing and purchasing information associated with the recipient playing media content included within the media stream and interacting with the purchasing system interface, as taught by Wiser, for the purpose of royalty payments and other fees to artists [Col. 11 lines 53-57].

Regarding claim 7, Fristoe discloses “packaging further comprises including customized advertisement information with the media stream” [Col. 2 lines 22-31, Col. 7 lines 41-50, i.e. Fristoe teaches that the content viewer displays rich media content/advertising that is customized by the service provider].

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
